THRU: Dr. Aleli A. Villalino
Vice President for Student Affairs and Services
Visayas State University

Dear Dr. Tan,

Greetings of peace and development!

With the Visayas State University's thrusts for character development and academic excellence, with your leadership forefront, we will produce quality ROTC graduates that will become a source of national pride.

To achieve this goal, it is imperative to meticulously select and train cadets who will undergo the Cadet Officer Qualifying Course (COQC) and subsequently assume leadership roles within the Cadet Corps of activated and affiliated ROTC Units.

The COQC stands as a crucial prerequisite for cadets, paving the way for their participation in ROTC Summer Camp Training (RSCT) and the Philippine Army Advance ROTC Academic Phase Training (PAARAPT).

The COQC Training, designed to take place every weekend (Saturday and Sunday), spans five weekends to complete the mandatory 10-day training period. During these weekends, aspirants are required to stay overnight to maximize the implementation of the training standards and provide them with an opportunity to engage in night training activities such as Guard Mounting, the Guarding system, Reveille, and other essential components. This approach ensures a comprehensive and effective training experience for the cadets, preparing them for the challenges ahead.

In this regard, this office requests for your approval for the aspirants be allowed to stay overnight at VSU ROTC designated Billeting every weekend from 02 February to 02 March 2024. The office has already identified and arranged for the billeting of trainees at the Communication Arts Building, VSU Integrated High School, approved by the school principal. For your perusal, attached herewith are the list of participants, schedule of training, and the program of instruction.

Thank you so much for being a productive and supportive president!
