Dear Dr. Tulin,

Greetings!

The Department of Meteorology (DMet) would like to request your good office to allow our BSMet-3 students to join the limited face-to-face classes this 2nd Semester, A.Y. 2021-2022.

Sixteen (16) of our 3rd year pioneering batch of students have enrolled Mete 151: Weather Analysis and Forecasting Practicum I, an important course where students will gain essential skills that they can use in their near-future career as meteorologists. Through this practicum, students will be able to enhance their skills in meteorological data gathering and analysis. They will also be able to master the ability in creating and providing weather forecasts to the general public by using different multimedia weather broadcasting platforms. These skills are difficult to achieve on distant learning modality.

Thus, with the lowering of our local "alert level" for COVID-19 status, and the provision of the university for the limited face-to-face classes for selected degree programs, DMet is highly optimistic that you will include our students to come inside the campus to conduct the aforementioned practicum course.

Thank you for your untiring support to the department.

Very truly yours,

DANIEL C. LOR
