Dear President Tulin:

It is our pleasure and opportunity to highly recommend Dr. Ruth O. Escasinas as an Adjunct Professor in the Department of Agronomy starting this first semester SY 2023 – 2024. She is qualified for this position since she was the one who spearheaded in the formulation and approval of our Ph. D. Degree Program. Luckily, the said program received this year an approved Certificate of Program Compliance (COPC) from the Commission on Higher Education (CHED) to effect offering of the said degree program.

With the approval from CHED to offer the Ph. D. program this first semester SY 2023 - 2024, the manpower complement of the department would need additional faculty who can profess the most vital subjects for the aforesaid degree program. There are two most important subjects such as AGRO321 (Advanced Field Crop Seed Technology) and AGRO317 (Characteristics and Dynamics of Agroecosystems) which need top caliber expert that can handled in both lecture and laboratory. Besides, the urgent hiring of an Adjunct Professor would entail so much work in the development of the new course materials for both lecture and laboratory undertakings of the abovementioned subjects. Attached herewith is the copy projected faculty workload for the upcoming first semester of school year 2023-2024.

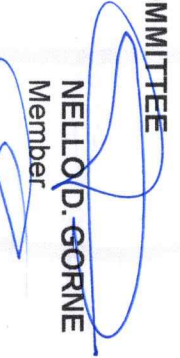

In this light, all faculty in the department unanimously recommends her for the abovementioned position to support us in the overall offering of the Ph.D. program.

Thank you very much for your never-ending support, and God bless.

Very truly yours,
