I. Objectives:

Generally, the project aims to strengthen youth participation in environmental governance in the MAGPANGUAPA barangays by equipping young leaders with the knowledge, skills, and values needed to contribute effectively to sustainable development, community resilience, and local decision-making processes.

Specifically, this project aims to:

1. Establish new and strengthen old ties with community partners;
2. To build the eco-leadership and advocacy skills of barangay youth through training programs, workshops, and youth forums that prepare them for active roles in local governance and community decision-making.
3. To encourage youth participation in community-based ecotourism and eco-friendly activities that help safeguard natural resources, preserve cultural heritage, and create opportunities for sustainable livelihoods.
