

OUTCOMES-BASED EDUCATION (OBE) COURSE SYLLABUS

Course No.: Socio11

Course Title: Society and Culture (with Family Planning)

Quality Goals of the Faculty of Humanities and Social Sciences

- Sustained Excellence in Instruction, Research, and Extension. Produce graduates equipped with advanced knowledge and lifelong learning skills with ethical and gender-responsive standards and passion in humanities, social sciences, and community development who are proficient in communication skills, critical thinking, and analytical abilities.
- Innovative Research and Development and Extension System and Competitive Services. Generate and disseminate relevant knowledge and skills that lead to improved productivity and sustainability in the humanities and social sciences specifically in the fields of philosophical studies; language, cultural, and literary initiatives; and social and development trends and issues of local and global impact,
- Adequate and Sustainable Resource Generation Activities. Generate adequate resources to support the University's global green initiatives through instruction, research and extension,
- Efficient, Effective and Client-Centered Administrative Support Services. Provide timely, accessible, acceptable and customer-friendly administrative support system that promotes partnership with students, faculty, alumni, and other stakeholders.

Quality Objectives of the Department of Philosophy and Social Sciences

General Objectives

1. Develop well-rounded VSU graduates with a strong background in Philosophy and Social Sciences who can provide quality services through active leadership and participation, geared towards inclusive and sustainable communities.
2. Become a catalyst in the creation and application of new knowledge and skills through innovative and relevant instruction, research and extension for socio-cultural upliftment.

Specific Objectives

1. General Preparatory Program

1. Provide basic social science courses such as Understanding the Self, Readings in Philippine History, The Contemporary World, Life and Works of Rizal, Ethics, and Philippine Indigenous Communities, for all degree and non-degree programs of VSU.
2. Facilitate experiential learning for students to enrich their expertise in their respective fields through the lens of social sciences.

