Reason(s) for Changing:

Civil engineer is my dream course ever since I was in JHS years but unfortunately, I wasn't able to make up to be an accepted qualifier in VSU, my parents still want me to take it but, in another institution, but my heart wants to be in VSU, it was like a dream come true to study in VSU. My mom told me to follow my heart and what I really want. So, I took the opportunity to study in VSU and took up Bachelor of Science in Geodetic Engineer instead and thinking that maybe I can be an engineer but in different specialization. Thinking that maybe I'd learn to love the course later on and be inspired more. The journey of being a GE student was fun and difficult, it was tough ride indeed but I know there's a part of me longing for something that I can't find in GE. Yes, I tried my very best to love it and be passionate in my course but ended up I was doing my activities for compliance, it was like I just did it for the sake that I'm studying this year. I lost the passionate and dedicated student I was back then and I just cried all night thinking of it. I became insecure to my friend who took up CE and always thinking of what if's and maybes. What if I grab the opportunity in another institutions, what if I listened to my father and so many more that kills me everytime I think of it. I'm living with full of regrets right now and blaming myself that I didn't do my best in the entrance exam and result, me not an accepted qualifiers. I'm trying my luck this time and praying to God, that maybe I can shift to my desired course and not living with full of regrets.
