Dear Miss Comporal,

As a part of the functions of the FCIC Guidance Department, the High School students were requested to complete a rating sheet of their teachers.

At the bottom is a copy of the ratings given by your students in your classes. Since some students were absent at the time of the rating and others failed to check certain items, the total number of ratings may not tally exactly with the number of students you have in your classes.

We ask that you study the ratings carefully in order to get a clearer view of what the students think about you as their teacher in relation to the various item on the checklist. While this is not considered an infallible guide to your teaching, it is helpful to you in reevaluating yourself as a professional teacher.

Sincerely,
Christine P. Cardoza
