Head- Department of Agronomy
Visayas State University

Dear Dr. Asio,

I am writing to express my intent to be considered for promotion to Assistant Professor IV in the Department of Agronomy. Currently serving as an Instructor I, I have spent the past 7 years dedicated to teaching, mentoring, and contributing to both the academic and community dimensions of agricultural education. I believe that my accumulated experience, continued professional growth, and passion for teaching align well with the responsibilities expected at this higher rank.

My teaching philosophy is grounded in the belief that great educators are shaped by continuous learning and meaningful engagement. I have found joy in sharing the knowledge I've gained through academic training, mentorship, and field experience particularly from the passionate professors and colleagues who continue to inspire my teaching. My approach blends theory with practice by engaging students in both classroom discussions and hands-on fieldwork, reinforcing their understanding through real-world application.

In my teaching practice, I aim to enhance student engagement and understanding of agriculture by incorporating problem-based opportunities that connect students with local agricultural stakeholders. As part of my commitment to keeping pace with industry developments, I continuously integrate emerging technologies into my courses, preparing students to navigate the evolving landscape of agriculture.

I believe that the role of Assistant Professor IV not only demands teaching excellence but also leadership in instruction, research, and community service. With a proven track record in these areas, I am confident that I am prepared to take on the broader responsibilities this rank entails.

Thank you for considering my application. I welcome the opportunity to continue serving the university in a greater capacity and to contribute more significantly to the growth of our students and the Agronomy department.

Respectfully,

MA. GWENETH M. ABIT
