Subject: Support for Dr. Harry Jay M. Cavite's PhD in Agriculture

I am pleased to write this letter in support of Dr. Harry Jay M. Cavite's PhD in Agriculture, awarded by King Mongkut's Institute of Technology Ladkrabang (KMITL), Bangkok, Thailand. Although the degree is officially titled "PhD in Agriculture," Dr. Cavite's research was specifically concentrated in Agribusiness Management, an area that integrates key business principles with agricultural studies.

Dr. Cavite's dissertation and subsequent research publications extensively explored key areas of agribusiness, including consumer behavior, technology adoption, and strategic development in agricultural community enterprises in Thailand. His research clearly demonstrates a strong integration of business and management concepts within the agricultural sector, making his degree highly relevant to academic and professional endeavors in the business domain.
