ABOUT ME

I'm Bryan, a jack-of-all trades and a tech-savvy individual that is driven in finding creative solutions to different problems. My interests revolve around technology, art, classic films, and YouTube tutorials. I'm an avid fan of understanding the intricacies behind technologies and how they work, and a proven practitioner of do-it-yourself (DIY) projects until you break something and realize you can't.

Versed with several programming languages as a Computer Engineer, some of my professional work as a Media Production Specialist at the University Integrated Media Center (UIMC) are anchored on multimedia design and production, web designing, customer support, and event coordination.
