Dr. Glenn Pajares
Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences
Visayas State University
Baybay City, Leyte, 6525

Dear Dr. Pajares,

I am writing to express my deep interest in becoming a part of Visayas State University as a Philosophy Instructor, eager to contribute to the university's legacy of academic excellence and intellectual exploration. I carry with me an unwavering passion for philosophy, a disciplined work ethic, and a deep belief in my ability to inspire and connect.

I hold a Bachelor of Arts in Philosophy, having studied at Saint Joseph College and a former seminarian at Pope Paul VI seminary, where I expanded my critical thinking abilities and engaged myself in a variety of philosophical traditions, which deepened my understanding of the life-changing power of education and motivated me to consider a career in teaching. While I may not yet have formal teaching experience, my ability to articulate complex ideas clearly, my passion for fostering thoughtful and open discussions, and my commitment to ongoing personal and professional development are among my strengths, and I am confident that these qualities will enable me to contribute meaningfully to your academic community.

I approach this opportunity with humility and willingness to learn from your distinguished faculty and students. I am confident that the skills and perspectives I have gained through my studies, coupled with my dedication to the craft of teaching, will allow me to contribute meaningfully to your department.

Sincerely,
John Lloyd B. Goyo
