Dear MS. BELARMINO,

My name is Jerry Yubal Jr., and I am yet to be a freshgrad at Visayas State University with a degree of Bachelor of Science in Development Communication. I am writing this letter to express my interest in applying for the position of Education Research Assistant I, as advertised. I have cultivated a robust foundation in journalism, research, and communication that I believe aligns perfectly with the requirements of this role.

I've developed a strong foundation in journalism starting from high school up until college, where I have been trained to produce community news reports and crafting promotional layouts and multimedia outputs.

Throughout my academic career, I have actively participated in activities that honed my skills in writing, research, and communication. I served as the Science and Technology Editor, and eventually, the Executive Editor of our university student publication, Amaranth, where I led a team of student journalists in creating informative and engaging content such as photographs, videos, promotional materials, and articles. In this role, I developed strong leadership skills, honed my ability to manage deadlines, and ensured the accuracy and credibility of all published materials.

Furthermore, I gained valuable experience as one of the only five campus journalists in the Philippines selected for the Aries Rufo Journalism Fellowship Program as a community journalists and fact-checker for Rappler, a reputable online news website in the Philippines. I also got to banner my advocacy in fighting disinformation in the global stage when I was selected to represent the Philippine youth at the One Young World summit in Montreal, Canada. I already had a myriad of articles published online under my name in Amaranth, Rappler, and Sunstar. This experience equipped me with advanced research skills and the ability to critically evaluate information.

I am confident that my strong background in journalism and communication, coupled with my proven research abilities and dedication to community outreach, would make me a valuable asset to your team.

With this, I seek your consideration of my application for the position of Education Research Assistant I. I look forward to the opportunity to discuss my qualifications further with you. Thank you.

Sincerely,

JERRY V. YUBAL JR.
