Acceptance notification for your abstract at the 2024 International Conference on English Across the Curriculum

EAC 2024 [EDC] 2024@polyu.edu.hk

For Mr. [Name] (Email: [Email])

TECHNICAL SUPPORT: [Name] (Email: [Email]) and [Name] (Email: [Email])

Dear Rose Marie Berdos

Thank you for your recent abstract

We are delighted to inform you that your abstract has been accepted for presentation at the 2024 EAC Conference to be held on 2-4 December 2024 at the Hong Kong Polytechnic University.

The abstracts have suggested abstracting it in the following

ABSTRACT

This study explored English teachers' perceptions of Communicative Language Teaching (CLT) and their training in language testing and evaluation, offering valuable insights into the intersection of pedagogical theory and practical assessment in EFL contexts. Using a descriptive quantitative survey method and advanced statistical tools such as Principal Component Analysis and Pearson correlation, the research provided a comprehensive analysis of teachers' experiences across diverse educational settings.

Despite challenges like heterogeneous class sizes and varying levels of English proficiency, CLT was identified as a favored teaching methodology. Additionally, the study underscored the growing popularity of Test-Based Language Teaching (TBLT) and Form-Focused (Form) strategies, indicating a pragmatic preference for balancing linguistic fluency with accuracy.

A key finding was the lack of significant correlation between pedagogical techniques and assessment training, emphasizing a critical gap in teacher education programs. This gap points to the need for professional development initiatives that integrate teaching methods with assessment strategies.

The findings of this study have broad implications for educational practices across disciplines. By addressing the alignment of teaching methods with assessment training, educators in various fields can enhance instructional effectiveness and better adapt to diverse learning environments, making the research relevant to a wide range of educational contexts.

The abstracts further advise that to your presentation at EAC2024, you must arrive on the application of your study on teaching English to 2024@polyu.edu.hk by 31 October 2024.

Please register for the conference <https://www.polyu.edu.hk/eac2024/registration/> by 31 October 2024. The registration is on an individual basis. Please inform your co-presenters to register.

The conference organizer has secured some special rates with nearby hotels. See <https://www.polyu.edu.hk/eac2024/conference/venue-and-accommodation/> for information.

Looking forward to your presentation at the 2024 EAC Conference!
