Dear Ma'am;

When I learned that the Department demands eligibility and/or a license for applicants for the upcoming school year, I became a little anxious. I suppose I might say that the news made me sad because I don't yet have any of the two. However, this did not deter me from maintaining my optimism and submitting another application.

I didn't take the board exam because, ma'am, I'm preparing for my entrance to the law school I applied to. Thankfully, through God's grace, I was able to ace both the admission test and the interview. However, I'm still considering taking the board exam this September.

I am praying and hoping that my application will still be accepted.

Thank you, ma'am. God bless!

Sincerely,
