RE: Shift to Flexible Learning Mode

FROM: DR. PROSE IVY. G YEPES
University President

DATE: APRIL 19, 2024

In line with our Centennial Anniversary celebrations, the following changes will be made to the conduct of classes next week starting April 24-27, 2024 across the whole VSU system and at all levels (high school, undergraduate, graduate):

1. Lecture classes will be conducted online either synchronously or asynchronously. As much as possible, synchronous online classes will be conducted, but in case of problems in internet connectivity, adjustment to asynchronous mode may be done.
2. Only laboratory classes will be conducted face-to-face. However, laboratory classes in statistics, mathematics and computer science that may not need students to come to the laboratory, can be conducted online too.
3. Related Learning Experience (RLE) for the BS Nursing students shall continue on face-to-face mode in the assigned hospitals, as scheduled.

Please note that faculty members, whether regular or part-time, will continue to report to their offices to deliver flexible learning to their students, and perform other tasks during the period.

Attendance and participation of everyone to the Centennial activities during that week is highly encouraged.

For your information and usual compliance.
