R E: University Student Services (USS) Days (March 22-23, 2018)

The University Student Services Office (USSO) is now on its 4th year of bringing closer to our students the different services our University offers by organizing again the University Student Services Days at the Eco Park on March 22 and 23, 2018.

This year we have a unique way of celebrating the said activity since it is in association with the Women's Month Celebration culminating activity. Different booths are set up at the venue to provide our students with an interactive, creative and more meaningful way of availing the services provided for them, and these services are extended to our faculty and staff.

In view of the above, you are encouraged to support by attending as well as enjoining our students to participate during their free time.

Your participation will surely make the USS Days and the Women's Month culmination a success.

For your information and guidance.
