R E : Participation of the First-year DevCom and FoodTech Students in the CAFS Orientation Program

As we prepare for the academic year 2024-2025, the College of Agriculture and Food Science will conduct an orientation program today, August 27, 2024 (Tuesday), from 1:00 pm-5:00 pm, at the VSU Gymnatorium.

Please take note that a separate memorandum (OVPAA Memorandum Order # 29, Series of 2024) has already been released to excuse first-year and second-year agriculture students from their classes to attend this orientation. In addition, all first year Development Communication and Food Technology students are also required to participate.

The orientation aims to familiarize students with the different departments and faculty members and to introduce them to important college policies, which are essential for their academic decisions with regards to the major that they will be taking.

In view thereto, all instructors and professors are hereby requested to excuse these students from their respective classes on August 27, 2024 (Tuesday), from 1:00 pm-5:00 pm to allow their full participation in the said orientation.
